

Executive Session

by OrangeTrail & Knowman

Enterprise Social Networks (ESNs) can help you radically improve engagement, the pace of change and the liquidity of knowledge in your organisation.

Radical improvement does not happen by doing the same thing just slightly better. You will need to break a few bad habits and start to adopt new ones along the way.

This session can help you to start paving the transformation for your organisation by exploring the opportunities of social technology.

What's in the package?

- An introduction to the opportunities social technology unlocks in the 6 areas
- First hand experience on successes, failures and business cases
- Deep dive into leadership dialogue for effective employee engagement
- Social technology experts deliver the session
- The session lasts three hours

6 areas of opportunities

Leadership, change and engagement

Leaders and communication departments that successfully use social technologies have added key skills to their portfolio that significantly increase engagement, pace and innovativeness.

Communications

Organisations are used to pushing information down the hierarchy. However, communication is changing from directional to networked. Leaders must embrace this paradigm shift and explore the power of networked communication.

Smarter & faster teams

Teams on social technology can be more productive, smarter, more agile, better aligned and spend 60% less time in meetings, all while having fun doing it.

Agile & lean processes

Social technology can significantly reduce cycle times of many organisational processes. Moreover, by connecting human intelligence to these activities, down time is reduced and systems are improved.

Learning & organisational development

The transparency social technology enables people to learn from each other through questions, solutions and interactions. This learning effect is remarkably powerful, manageable and scalable.

Bots

Bots automate problem solving and internal processes, saving employee hours, accelerating your business and cutting through inefficiencies.

If you are ready for the change, give us a call!

Phil Kropp
Orangetrail.com
info@orangetrail.com
+31 202 440 185

Ana Neves
Knowman.pt
info@knowman.pt
+351 916 715 756